

Michael Guastini

Automotive Consultant

Career Summary

I make change, ...in the culture and operation of organizations. I have decades of experience in the retail automotive business where I learned how to move an organization. I have a California teaching credential where I taught Special Ed. kids, learning to change the behaviors of emotionally disturbed adolescents. My time as performer; on stage, in radio, TV, Film and as a stand-up comedian taught me to communicate clearly and keep people interested. For the last eighteen years, I've trained and consulted at every level of the automotive food chain: from corporate officers in the manufacturer's headquarters, to porters on the retail drive. I've worked with more than 800 dealerships. Each store presented different problems and I've learned from all of them.
